Justice, though due to the accused,
is due to the accuser too.

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS OF CARDOZO 1986

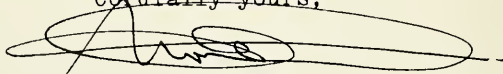

Dear Graduates:

The class of 1986 receives its diplomas from the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, Yeshiva University, at the end of the tenth year in the life of this institution. The past ten years have seen the evolution of the school of law from a dream in the minds of its founders to an institution that has made significant strides toward meeting its destiny. We believe we have equipped you with the intellectual depth and ethical sensitivity to venture forth to practice an old and honorable profession.

Your own destiny now lies largely in your hands. Whether you wish to devote your knowledge and talents to the world of law firms, public interest concerns, or business opportunities, we hope you build your future cognizant of your responsibilities to humanity. When we chose to name the school of law, we joined with Justice Cardozo in the belief that "The final cause of law is the welfare of society."

As you leave our institution, I offer you my best wishes for brilliant and satisfying careers, and for rich personal lives which will have been enhanced immeasurably by your studies at Cardozo.

Cordially yours,

NORMAN LAMM
President

A classbook is a great monument to the achievements and aspirations of a class. This classbook is a lovely reminder of the ten years of growth and effort that have created the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law. This is a class that has seen substantial change at the Law School, the inauguration of the new lobby, the maturing of many scholarly and educational trends, the publication of important issues of the Cardozo Law Review, the Arts and Entertainment Law Journal and the Women's Annotated Legal Bibliography. It was during this year that a new international law journal was first published at Cardozo. The students included in this book have helped the law school as the law school has helped them. There has been a spirit of community that, I hope, will be with our graduates during the days of their career.

Benjamin N. Cardozo, the judge, represents the science of law and the merging of the science of knowledge with a reassertion of moral and ethical standards. The law school is constructed with these scholarly and ethical goals in mind. Let us hope that the next decade helps us realize those goals.

Acknowledgements

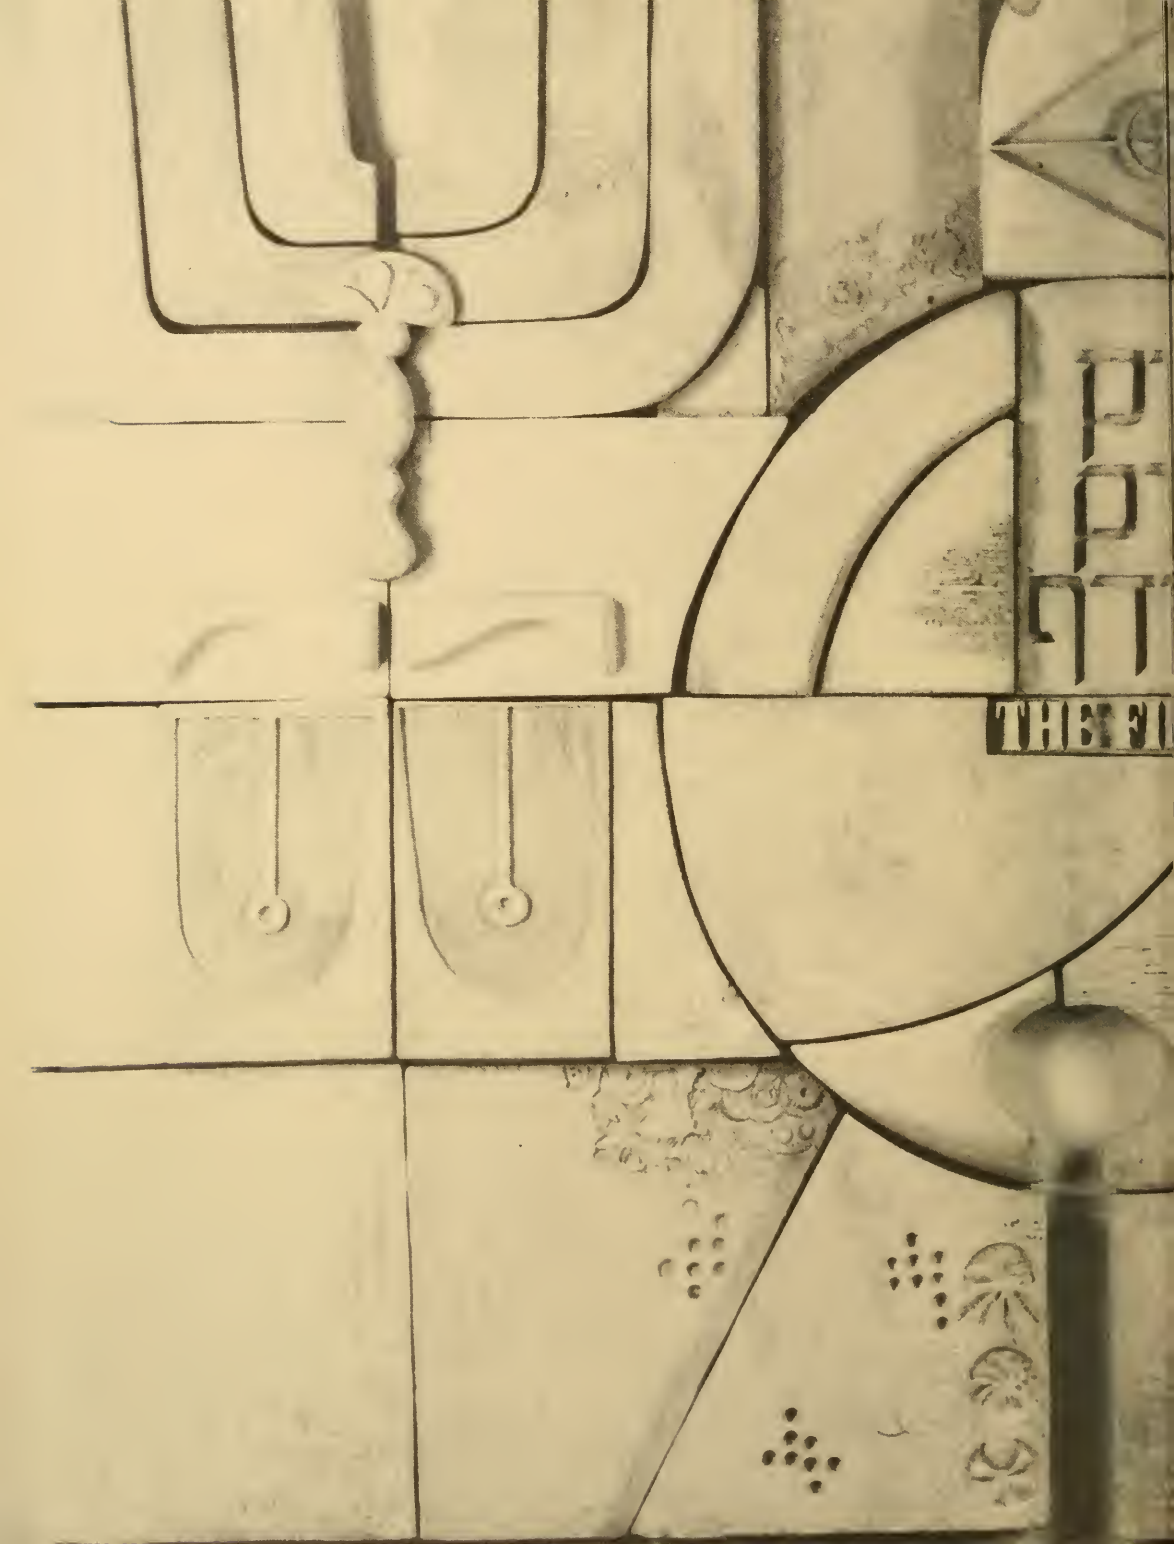

Thanks to all the good people on the Tenth and Fourth floors, the Cardozo Law Forum, and the Cardozo Student Bar Association. Special thanks to Anita Grosz for her tireless patience, David Mendelsohn for coming through when it all looked hopeless, and Elana Gershen for her moral support. The editorial staff also thanks the Dixie Brewing Company for continuing to brew it fine and light.
